Get direction

Not sure what direction to take in life but would love to get into the world of work?

Then Training for Success can make it happen for you.

What's more, all the training is designed around you – your level of skills, your interests and your goals.

Get the skills

Before you even think about looking for a job there are a few skills you need to learn first.

Here are just some of the things Training for Success can help you with:

- Work Skills
- Life Skills
- Completing job applications
- Interview skills
- ICT
- Health and Safety skills
- Gaining qualifications relevant to you
- Basic First Aid

Get the confidence

A blue horizontal bar at the top contains the title 'Get the confidence' in white. To the right of the bar, several colorful arrows (red, pink, orange) curve upwards and to the right, overlapping the text area.

As well as helping you get the skills that employers are looking for, Training for Success will help you gain the confidence you need to go out and find work.

Just start off at a point you feel comfortable with and once you've got the basic skills and qualifications you need, you'll be ready to move on to the next level of Training for Success or even an Apprenticeship.

Specialist organisations can provide additional support for individuals who require it, for example people with disabilities, so that you can benefit fully from training.

Get experience

A graphic in the bottom right corner features several curved arrows in shades of blue and green, pointing upwards and to the right.

You may like the sound of a job but how do you know if it would really suit you? The only way is to try it out for yourself. That's why Training for Success gives you the chance to experience different workplaces before you decide on what job you'd like to do.

Get paid as you go

From now on everyone who joins Training for Success will automatically get an Education Maintenance Allowance (EMA) of £40 per week.

And the good news is it's yours to spend - because receiving EMA won't affect any other benefits which you or your family may be receiving.

In fact, no matter what your financial situation is, you're guaranteed to get EMA.
